

Policy for IT and Information Security

Information and the resources used to manage the information are our most valuable assets and a prerequisite for the operation of our business. Provisioning of appropriate protection of our information assets is central to us. The information must be available to those who need to know, at the same time as it is protected from unintended disclosure, corruption, and loss.

The primary objective of the work on information security is to ensure that information is available and protected.

The management of OPSIS LiquidLINE commits to work with continuous improvements of the management system for information security, and to comply with the requirements it is associated with.